It is the same feeling for everyone. It is the rush you feel when you realize that it's Friday, the exhausted sigh you release after conquering "The 99", or the pride you feel after completing that first grueling research paper. The students of Pikeville College, through fellowship, learning, and growth, celebrate life.

Moments spent together sharing a little time, sharing a few of our thoughts, sharing a bit of ourselves. Celebrating each other ...

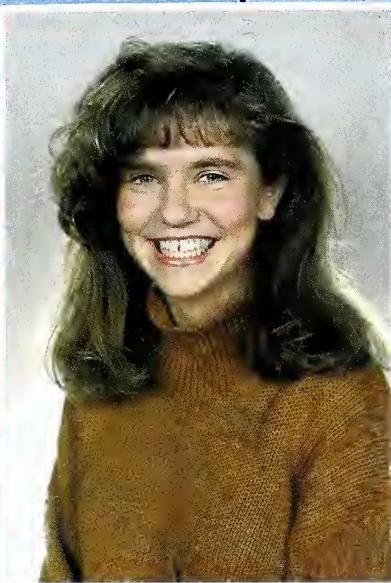

Some day you'll look back on this college experience and laugh, but it will be sometime during the next century — way after you've forgotten that first Algebra quiz or the grade you made on that History exam. The realization will come later, that learning encompasses much more than one test, one lecture, or one laboratory experiment. Celebrating learning ...

*Most folks well worth the memory, have statues carved in stone.
But teachers mold their monuments in living flesh and bone.*

*The student who goes out in life, who makes a well known name,
Admits unto the heart of man, some teacher shares the fame.*

*I never hear a pianist with talent true and rare
But in the shadows I can see, a teacher standing there*

No skillful doctor ever saved the lives of human kind Without the seeds some teacher stored within that fertile mind.

*No actor, writer, carpenter, no boxer you'll allow,
Pursues his chosen field unless some teacher showed him how.*

Lawyers, doctors, engineers, all who are beloved by men.

Remember what some teacher taught and quote it now and then.

Yes, teachers mold their monuments. They build them year by year.

Not like the ancient pyramids, so awesome and austere.

*Which time and time will wear away, but spurning
solemn stone,*

Our teachers mold eternally in living flesh and bone.

*Yesterday, Today, And

Even when the rooms and hallways are empty, and night covers the college with a blanket of darkness, if you listen with your heart, you can still hear the echoes of the laughter of all those who call Pikeville College "home".

Celebrating Commencement Weekend 1991

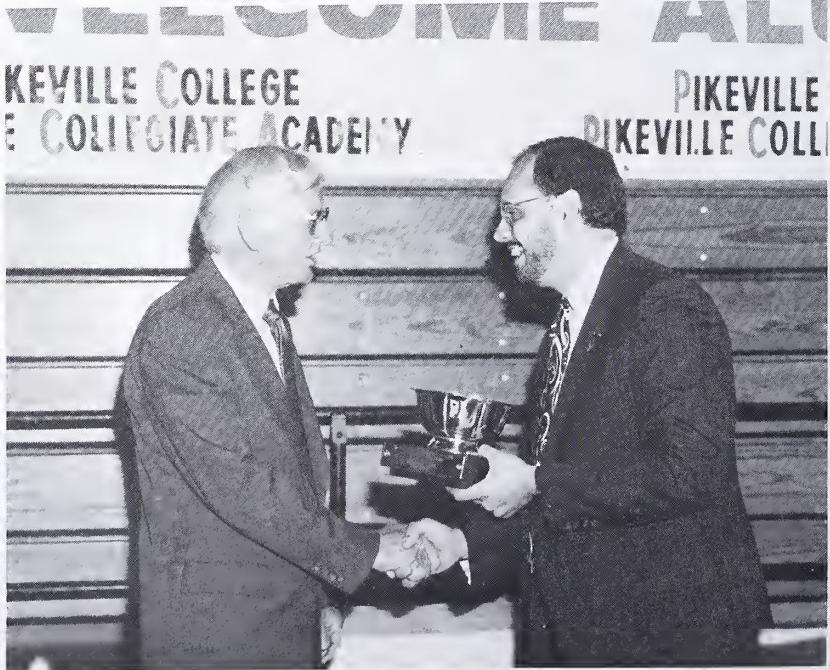

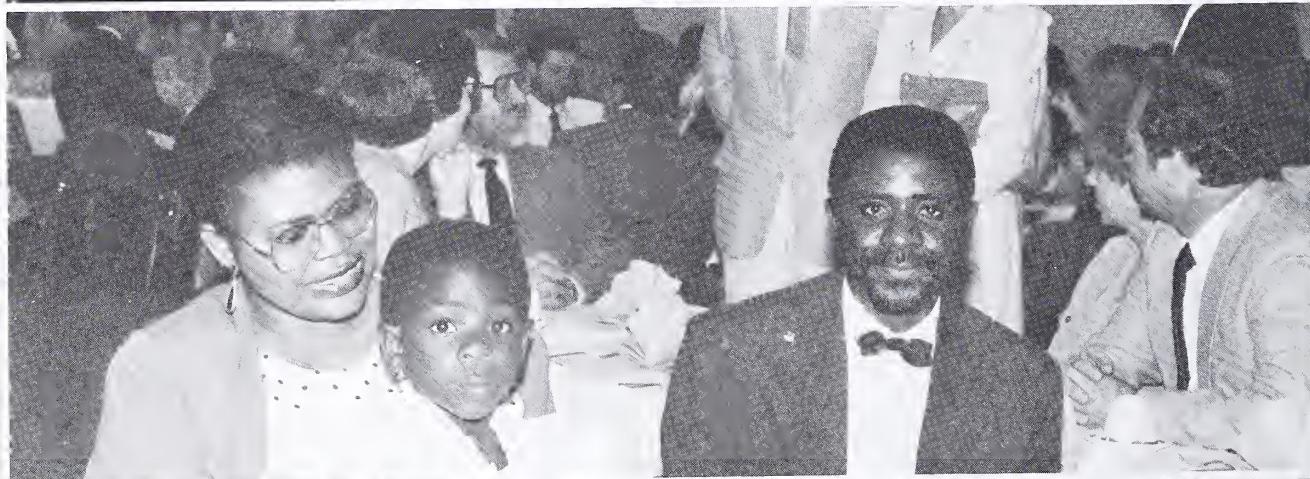

*God of our Fathers,
Whose Almighty Hand
Leads forth in beauty
All the starry band
Of shining worlds in
Splendor through the skies,
Our grateful songs
Before Thy throne arise.*

*Thy Love Divine
Hath led us in the past.
In Thy true land,
By Thee, our lot is cast.
Be thou our Ruler,
Guardian, Guide, and Stay;
Thy word our law,
Thy paths our chosen way.*

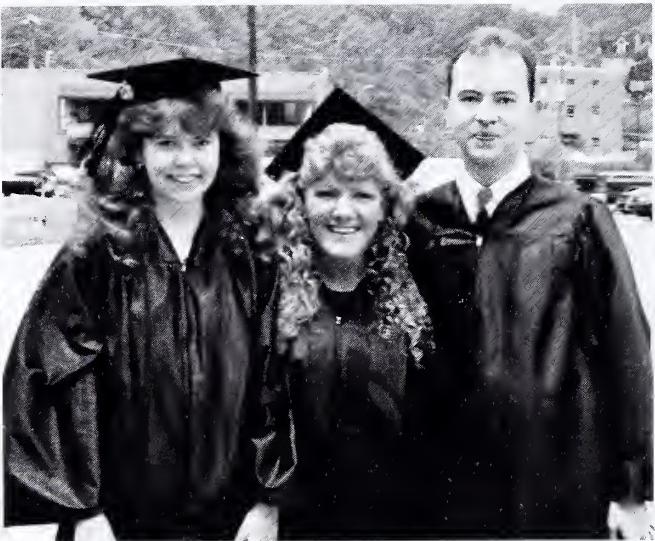

Celebrating Success . . .

Those who don academic apparel join a long procession of capped and gowned scholars reaching back in time over eight centuries. The wearers may be identified as holders of a bachelor's, master's, or doctoral degree by the type of gown worn as well as by the hood. The bachelor's gown has long sleeves and is designed to be worn closed. The master's gown has an oblong sleeve, open at the wrist. The rear part of the oblong sleeve is square cut and the front has an arc cutaway. The gown may be worn open or closed. The gown for the doctoral degree has bell-shaped sleeves. Like the master's gown, it may be worn open or closed. The doctoral gown is faced down the front with black velvet with three bars of the same across the sleeves.

The hood indicates both the field of learning and the school conferring the degree. The Intercollegiate Code of 1895 sent the standards for academic dress in the United States and established the list of colors to represent the different departments of learning. The color or the velvet edging on the hood denotes the field of learning. For example, white indicates Arts, Letters, and Humanities; purple indicates Law; citron indicates Social Science; dark blue indicates Philosophy. The latter color is worn by those who hold a Doctor of Philosophy, or Ph.D., degree, regardless of the field of learning. The color or colors of the lining of the hood denote the school conferring the degree.

*Gather 'round, ye loyal school mates,
Lift each voice 'til echoes ring;
Loudly praise our Alma Mater
'Tis of Pikeville C. we sing.
And in deepest care or sorrow,
Should we pause to think of thee,
Strong our hearts once more,
As in days of yore,
When we sing of our loyalty.*

*Orange and Black we hail thee,
Ever thy praises sing;
Oh, see our colors that stand for honor,
And to us victory bring.
Orange and Black forever,
We hail thee far and near,
On the field or in the hall,
We will answer the call;
For we love thee, our college dear.*

Lisa Fields, Melissa Trader, and Angela Craft (Not pictured)

Missy Sandt

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of those who contributed to the creation of the 1990-1991 Highlander.

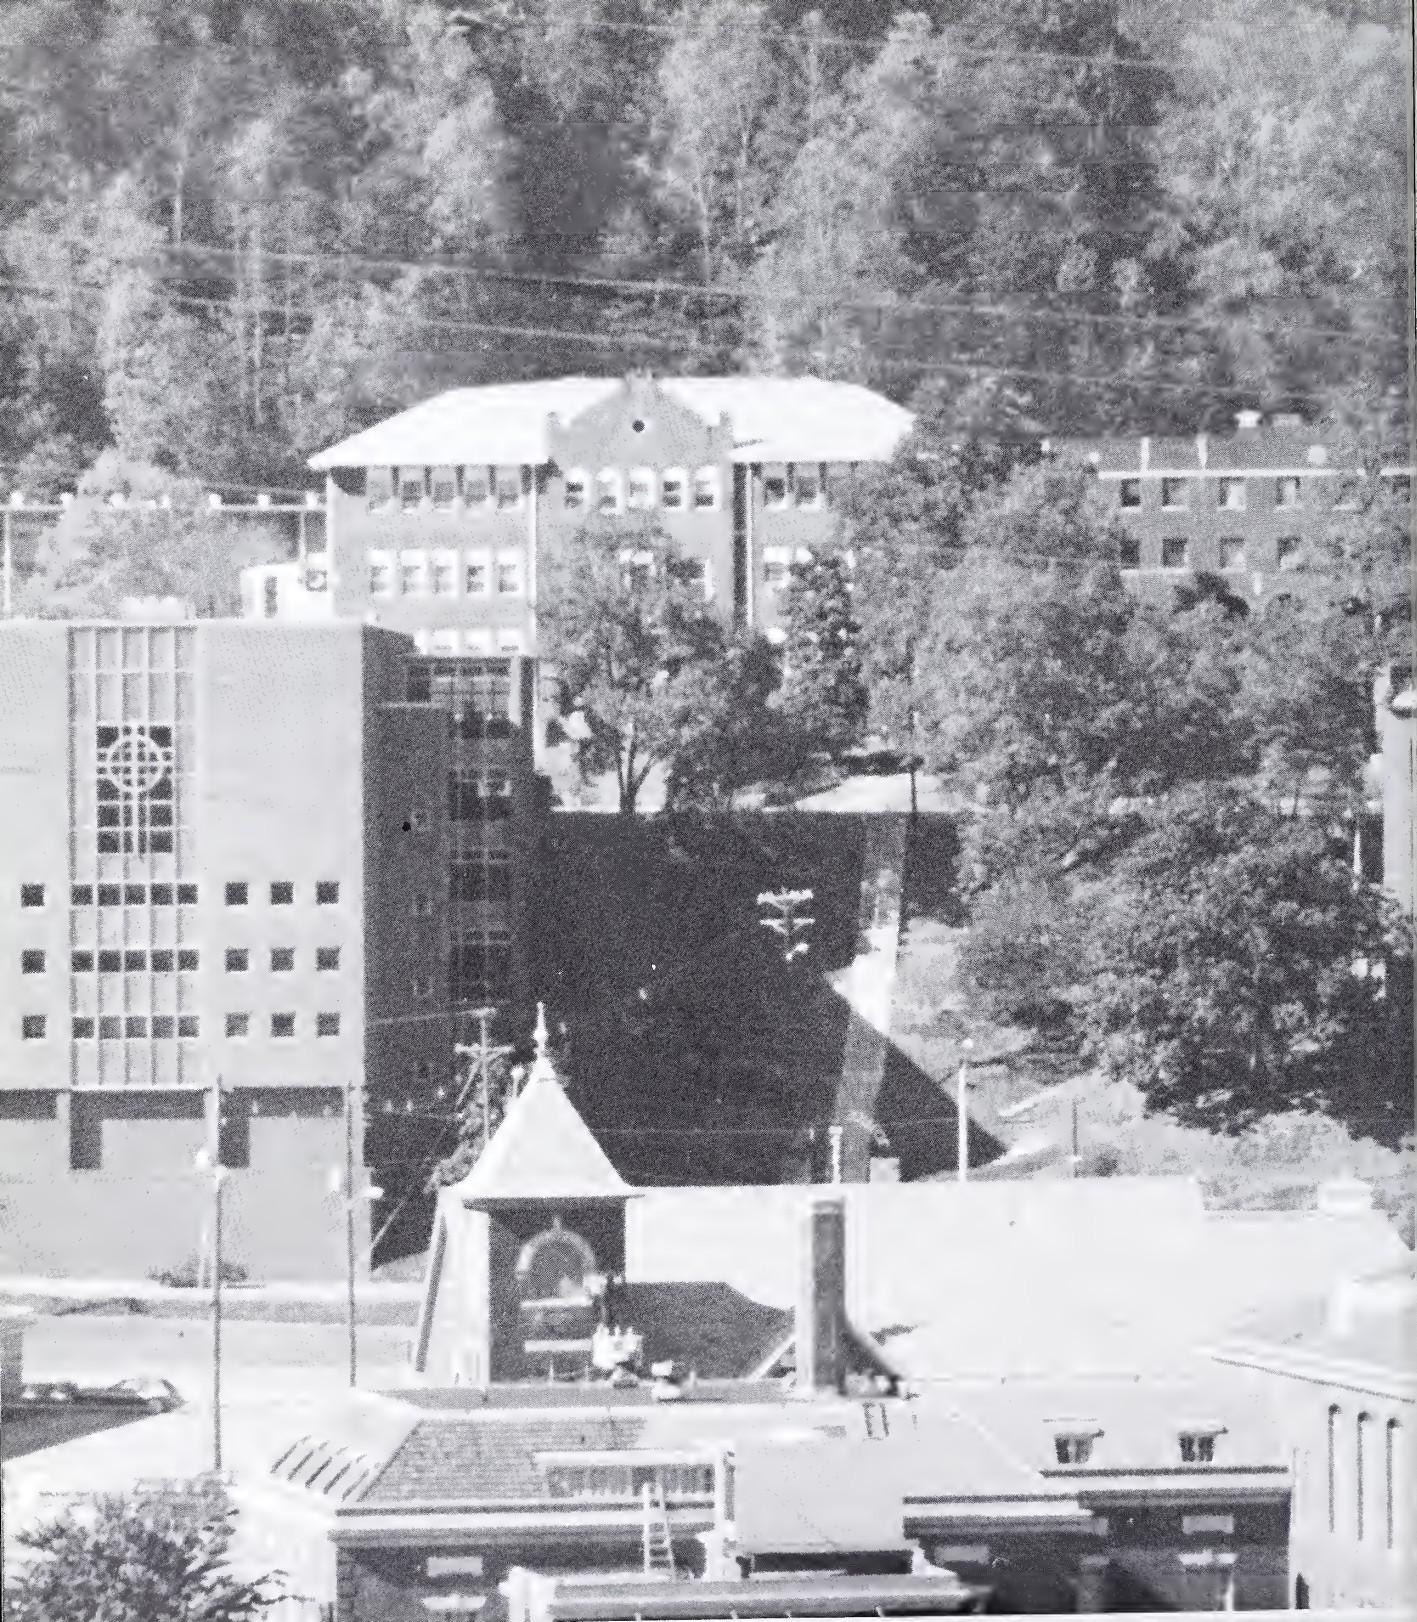

A yearbook is a product of work, sweat, fights, and laughter and would not be possible without the cooperation and understanding of everyone.

First, I would like to thank the entire staff. I give to you all my sincere appreciation and say, "Thank you". Next, I would like to thank the faculty and administration. Ron Damron, in particular, for allowing us free reign to run the gamut of our imagination. I would like to thank Tom Brush, our Josten's representative and Susan Sanford from Sanford Studios. Additional appreciation must be extended to Phil Blake, Charles Francis, Robert Davis, Donessa Burgess, Edith Walker, and Pat Kowalok for their never ending support and assistance. Finally, I would like to thank the student body, because this is their book.

Celebrating

Through it all we return. Drawn by friendships, visions, dreams — the elusive blended with the convenient. Those who have loved it, those who have desecrated it, all hold it in the same regard. For it has the field of our growing and the plain of our independence. We have taken from and given to our Alma Mater the price we shall grow to see as our essence. The days of our fleeting youth will not have been as vapor if we expect the experience for what it is: an education. An education in subjects not always so austere as arts and sciences, but a tutoring in life itself. We may leave the doors of Pikeville closed when we depart, but the window to the mind will be ajar and waiting for more. CELEBRATING PIKEVILLE COLLEGE . . .
